LISTEN TO THE BELLS

A new system known as "audible ringing" has been installed in the Memphis telephone exchanges.

Through its use you are able to know that the operator is ringing the number you call. It relieves the operator of making the "I am ringing" report and gives you assurance that due effort is being made to attract the called party.

Your attention is called to the ringing signal heard every few seconds while waiting for an answer from the telephone you called. This signal shows that called station is being rung and it takes the place of the operator's saying she is ringing.

When you call a number and hear the purring sound in the receiver you will know that the bell of the called party is ringing. It is entirely different from the busy signal, and the two sounds are not easily confused.

The operators will no longer report that they are ringing. Listen for the sound made by the bells on the distant station and co-operate with us in our efforts to improve your service.
